Grandma Jagoda - Melissa with Orange

$2.49

The Greek Paracelsus called Melissa (Lemon Balm) "the elixir of life", the ancient people used to bathe in its infusion, added it to wine for aroma, and rubbed it in places stung by bees and wasps. In Spain, it was used in magic practices. Special elixirs produced with it were supposed to give courage to the cowardly ones and turn enemies into allies. In the eighteen century, "Carmelite Water" became a famous drink – a root vodka made from Melissa, produced in secrecy by Parisian Carmelites, which even had the power to remove bad spells. Melissa with orange is an extraordinary composition, which will help you relax after a hard and irritating day. Ingredients: lemon balm leaf 41%, apple, rosehip, sweet orange peel 10%, aroma, citric acid – acidity regulator, roasted chicory root. Directions: Place one tea bag in a cup or previously warmed tea-pot. Pour in freshly boiled water. Leave to brew for 6-8 minutes. 20 tea bags. Total weight 40 g (1.41 oz.)
